

PARENTKIND SCHOOL ATTENDANCE REPORT

Parentkind, in partnership with The Times, commissioned Censuswide to conduct a poll of 1,000 UK parents. The results reveal some fascinating insights into the challenges parents face when it comes to school attendance. Here's what was found:

1 in 3 parents (34%) have arguments with their children about going to school every week.

For 1 in 20 parents (6%), these arguments happen every single day.

On a positive note, a third of parents (32%) say they never have arguments about school attendance.
